SLEPT AT POST AS BOYS FLED TO DIE MISTRESS OF AGNES FIRTH

GUARD WAS ASLEEP AS TWO BOYS DROWNED

Supervisor Soule Makes Admission in Rainford Island Investigation.

WILL FIGHT FOR POSITION

Superintendent Richard C. Soule of the Rainford Island institution, who was dismissed by order of the board for going to sleep and allowing three boys to make an attempt to escape, as a result of which two of them were drowned, today opened a fight for reinstatement.

He admitted that he went to sleep on guard, and that while he was asleep, the three boys slipped past him and made for the water.

The trustees are still investigating conditions at the island. Two boys were drowned last January in an attempt to escape, and two more were drowned Monday night.

Will Seek Reinstatement.

No one feels a greater regret over this matter than I do. I shall make a fight for reinstatement for I feel that my record justifies me.

I did do all at about 3:30 o'clock that night, but ran in my room at just 10 o'clock. It was immediately after I had pounded the clock that I heard a door close and upon investigating outside I saw the three boys of all the boys making for the water.

I called: "Come on back, boys, and we'll call it all off," but they continued on.

Gas Poison of Pit Kills Well-Known Dog Fancier.

Mrs. Ella W. Goldsmith, one of the best known women in the town of Duxbury and well known in society circles in Boston and New York as the leader of prize-winning French bulldogs, died today at her home from gas poisoning received when she fell through the post boy door of her home into a well. The accident occurred late Monday afternoon.

Spread Papers for Walsh Over State

The Democratic State Committee today resumed the distribution of campaign papers in every county in the State for David I. Walsh for Governor, following the latter's declaration that he will be a candidate. "If I am elected only at my own vote," which was printed exclusively in the AMERICAN.

From now on the Democratic leaders on and off the State Committee will go about with the work of building up Walsh's reputation without any reserve. The committee insists the distribution of campaign papers two weeks ago last week, at the request of Mr. Walsh, the work was brought to a halt. It is therefore significant that the work has been resumed, following Mr. Walsh's statement.

Release Sullivan Arrested in Crusade

Daniel J. Sullivan, arrested two weeks ago on a charge of using force and disorderly conduct in connection with the police roundup on Boston sporting men, was found not guilty in the Municipal Court today and discharged. Four others, including "Boss" Sullivan, George Dupes, John Gray and Frank Mehan, will be jailed on July 21.

U.S. GETS PROBABLY BEST EVIDENCE

Commerce Commission Gives Department of Justice All Its Testimony.

SUIT MAY BE SEQUEL

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Chairman Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission today submitted to Assistant Attorney-General Atkins of the Department of Justice the entire record of testimony taken by the commission relative to charges against the New Haven, Boston & Maine Central, and allied railroads that the same company was a monopoly and a restraint of interstate commerce.

A complete record of the entire proceedings against the New Haven system, which has been before the commission in various ways for the past five years, was sent to the department.

To Take Up New York End. Assistant Attorney General Atkins and Gregory, it was announced at the department today, will begin active consideration of the matter at once and within the next several weeks will take the inquiry into the New York end.

The wreck on the New York end, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, June 12 at Stamford, Ct., when six passengers were killed and twenty-two injured, was due to the negligence of the management of the railroad in putting in charge of train No. 33 an experienced and unimpaired in this class of work, according to the report of Interstate Commerce Commissioner McHardy today.

The report points out that the running of two sections of a train one after the other, as the two trains which collided, calls for the highest responsibility of the management of the second section, and adds:

Should Be Experienced. "A man for such a position should be one trained by long experience and qualified by instruction of superiors for the order of this special work. This was no place to try out an unqualified limited service."

"Any system under which this is possible or possible is a loose system. It is but fair to say, however, of General Manager Burge, that his connection with the road is recent, and that his efforts in the promotion of safety during the short time that he has been in charge encourage the hope that he may succeed in placing the road on a safe operating basis."

The report further adds that the road has no proper system of checking work and that it is to be determined whether or not defects reported on locomotives are actually corrected. Modern steel equipment for high-speed passenger trains should be installed at the earliest possible date.

The report states, and a order and more efficient system of operation of the railroad should be established immediately.

Price of Shaves to Be Ten Cents Again

"Back to the ten-cent shave!" will be the call tonight at the meeting of the Master Barbers' Association at Friendship Hall, No. 12 Kewland street. Since the barbers' strike, shavers have cost ten cents. The master barbers have decided that "out of fairness to the public," they will put the shave tariff back to the low level.

Flynn was fined $100. He appealed. McCarthy was sentenced to the Reformatory school at Concord. He also appealed.

10,000 Maine Voters Ask for Referendum

ATHENIA, Me., July 10.—The filing of petitions with the signatures of more than 10,000 voters at the office of the Secretary of State today enables for a referendum on the measure prevents the public utilities act from becoming operative absent days after the adjournment of the Legislature by which it was passed.

Friends Demand Investigation
Who in Boston ORDERED GIRL'S BODY CREMATED?

Some of the friends of Miss Agnes Firth McDuff, the pretty Cambridge aviatrix who died in Paris the other day, are not satisfied that she was a suicide.

One friend, who lives in Everett, today displayed a postcard dated June 9 and sent from Bois de Meudon, l'Ermitage, a suburb of Paris, which read:

Am well and happy. Write.

According to the cable dispatches from Paris, Miss McDuff died on Sunday, July 6.

QUEER THINGS THAT DEMAND EXPLANATION.

Hear Trainmen Won't Arbitrate

Labor Officials, However, Will Go to Washington to See Wilson.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Intimation was given today by President Lee of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and President Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors, that they would not accept the arbitration of President Wilson and other influential men in the wage dispute between the trainmen on the railroads.

Further confirmation came when Frank H. Row, of Boston, Mass., telegraphed their desire that her body should be cremated here, but the French law forbids the cremation of bodies of persons who have been murdered or who have committed suicide. The body will therefore probably be buried in Paris.

What her friends would like to know is: "What led her to her death?"

Who called to have the body cremated and why were such a request made?

If Agnes died from her own hand, why should "friends of hers in Boston" want her body buried?

"I understand the big Boston business men who are in love with Agnes and who were present from marrying her by his relatives heard of this request for cremation and wired a counter order to have the body embalmed."

LOVE LETTERS MAY CLEAR UP LAKE TRAGEDY

WILKESBARRE Pa., July 10.—A big batch of love letters, many of them unopened, which passed between Alice Crispell, whose lifeless body was found in Harvey's Lake near here last Monday, and Herbert Johns, her fiancé, are expected to throw a new light on the mystery which has been baffling the authorities here ever since the girl's body was found.

The letters were obtained by County Detective Daniel McKelvey. There are about 100 of them, of which sixty were written by Johns. They were found at the Crispell home at O'Neill, and at the Johns home in this city last night, after an all day search for new evidence that might help to solve the murder of Miss Crispell.

Some of the letters are dated in the early part of 1912 while others are of recent date. The girl in several of her letters to Johns talks of having been abused at home, and in one of them says that her father, William Crispell, blackened her eyes. The father has denied to the detectives that he ever struck her. In one of her letters she says:

"I am afraid to go near your house for fear the old man will shoot me. No many things are troubling me that I feel like jumping to the lake."

In another letter she writes: "I had a notion to jump in the lake and end my trouble. Why, darling, I had no idea I did not know what to do with them."

In one of her letters the girl threatened to leave home on account of the abuse. In another she says she is going to Sunbury, adding: "I guess you'll be glad to hear that I'm going."

In a letter Johns says: "I'm glad you got home with the other night. You know the woods are a bad place at night. You know they're full of mountain lions."

In still another:

"I'm temperance—between drinks, and so are you."

And in another, "Darling, we won't have to wait much longer for the Fourth of July. There will be a devil of a time."

Still another important development of the day was a statement made by the girl's father to detectives that he had threatened to shoot his daughter, Alice, about two months ago, because of her persistent refusal to marry and not go out at night. The detectives say he told them that he went so far as to point a revolver at her. He said he merely wanted to frighten her and make her marry him.

In a letter Johns says: "I'm glad you put me stratagem, and all three jumped in the water.

Heard Cries for Help.

I had to go back immediately to the dormitory, for there was no one coming to me, and I was afraid that the boys might be a wholesale attempt to escape, so I told the matron of the cottage to take charge and to telephone Mr. Ryan, and then I went back to the water's edge and waited for him to come to hear the cries for help.

The boys went in the water naked, and that will show you what a case of boys I had to deal with. My own dormitory is the hardest one to supervise, for the boys are noisy and they demand your full attention every minute. I did what my duty was to do. I make no excuse.

Defends Record.

My record is of the best. Allen was a boy really led, and McGilley hummed with Scully, who I think was the ringleader. This is his first attempt to escape. Only last week one of the officers pulled him out of the water after he had gone up to his neck and was about to make a break. I feel that after another hearing that my case will be looked at in a different light and that my reinstatement will follow.

Ryan's Statement.

Superintendent John Ryan of the school said:

This is a very bad incident and I personally feel very sorry for the boys' parents. I shall see them this morning.

While Mr. Scully admits he was doing at the time of the escape, I do not condemn him. In fact, I exonerate him. He has had a bad record at the school and is one of the best men that I have had the pleasure to work with.

I would like to see him reinstated and hope that the board will see fit to do so.

It is true that he did not see the boys pass him when they made their break, but he was in the dock at 10 o'clock, and it was just a second before that the boys made their escape. He did the best and worst thing under the circumstances. He could have made a dash for the boys, but in doing that he would have left the entire dormitory without any guard, and that is the reason he came back.

As for the drowning I feel that Allen guided McGilley down with him when he attempted to rescue Allen. Unhappily Scully kept right on and made no attempt to help. The boys all knew what they were up against, for they have seen what a strong current there is at the point they entered the water. It is practically useless to drag for the bodies at this point, but we have been grappling ever since the tragedy. I have been waiting the shore today to hope that the big wind might drive the bodies in shore.

Two Others Drowned.

Two other boys were drowned a few months ago in similar fashion. Scully is not blamed for that drowning, and the investigation today was devoted to fixing blame for that tragedy. The boys drowned were Edward Sullivan and Harry Scully, and they attended to swim above the night of January 20. Their bodies were recovered last Friday.

'L' ARBITRATORS START MONDAY; SESSIONS OPEN

The special board of arbitration appointed to settle the differences between the Boston Elevated Company, and its employees, today voted to hold open sessions.

The first session will be held at 10 a. m. on Monday, July 21, at the State House. The three arbitrators met today at the executive room of the Chamber of Commerce to organize and arrange details of procedure.

At the outset of today's session James Storror, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who was appointed chairman of the board, confessed that indignantly and as a firm member he had refused to serve as an arbitrator of the strike in the old West End Railway and the Elevated Railway Company.

Mr. Storror explained that while he had no personal interest in the stock, he had no individual holdings, he would gladly resign as an arbitrator if his colleagues felt that these alliances might apt to prejudice him.

MRS. RIGBY A JEKYL-HYDE FOR SUFFRAGE

LONDON, July 10.—A remarkable confession of a dual life which in some respects equals the strange case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, was made at Liverpool today by a woman.

Mrs. Edith Rigby, wife of a rich and prominent doctor, admitted to the police that she had been a member of the militant suffragette army and for six months without her husband's knowledge. Every night she would slip from her home and get into a building, plant bombs or send threatening letters to those opposing the cause. She told the police that she had caused at least $20,000 damage through her own actions. Her husband opposes suffrage and she had to carry on her campaign of resistance in complete secrecy. By day she appeared as a gentle, devoted wife, with no thought of "votes for women," but at night she went forth with violence in her heart.

LAWRENCE OUT FOR PUBLICITY BY NEW BOARD

Rep. Congressman George F. Lawrence, Republican member of the new Public Service Commission, today strongly denounced the stand taken by his colleagues on the commission, George W. Anderson, Democrat, for full publicity in the board's proceedings.

When Chairman Frederick J. Mott yesterday attempted to hold a private conference on the petition of the Hampden Railroad Company for permission to issue bonds to the amount of $2,500,000, the Commissioner Anderson entered a strong protest and demanded that the conference be turned into a public hearing. The demand was carried.

"I believe that Mr. Anderson was right in his attitude," said Mr. Lawrence today. "I am a strong believer in the AMERICAN principle of publicity. The public's business should be conducted in public."

The Public Service Commission is a public body, and the members are servants of the public.

Mr. Lawrence is one of the most influential Republicans in the State, and is a close personal friend of former United States Senator W. Murray Coker. His declaration, therefore, in favor of publicity in the conduct of public business is particularly significant.

BURGLARS GET $2000 PICTURES IN CAMBRIDGE

A $2,500 burglary, the work of five men, was discovered early today at the home of Taylor W. Mathers, a wealthy lumber merchant, at No. 112 Highland road, Cambridge.

The burglars took all the marks of having been committed by the same men or men who related the home of William H. Russell, on Brattle street, Cambridge, of $2,000. This robbery was discovered Monday.

The Mathers burglars were discovered today by Caretaker Frank Colwell and John H. Hanson.

Mathers was in bed at the time of the burglary, which was worth from $100 to $200 apiece. The paintings were not out from the frames, but were carefully removed.

These articles are known to have been stolen.

Fifteen paintings—value $2,000.
A step watch—value $150.

These Paintings Were Stolen from the Mathers Home

There are thirteen of the paintings stolen from the Mathers home in Cambridge. If anyone tries to sell you one, call the police.

EVERETT THIEF, ESCAPING, SHOT BY POLICEMAN

A man who had been arrested as a burglar, tried to escape from Patrolman Daniel W. Manning in Everett today and was shot through both legs.

He said afterward he was Albert F. Warren of Baltimore. When Manning was recently released from State prison and the Everett police believe they know he is that man. They have since Baltimore.

Warren was arrested after Mr. Arthur Jones of No. 11 Jones street had telephoned the police that a burglar had just left by the way of his front window. When Warren was searching his pockets he gave up a number of pieces of jewelry which Mrs. Jones identified as her own. They included a gold brooch and chain, a gold watch, a gold wedding ring, two bracelets, a plain gold ring, a handkerchief containing a silk handkerchief, and a few neckties.

Gives Himself Up on Mother's Appeal

Charged with stealing more than $100 worth of beer from Charles H. Foster, a beer merchant of No. 56 South Margate street, Alexander Schultz, twenty-one, of No. 44 Lexington street, Everett, was arrested today.

The police charge that Schultz took the beer away by a truck. Schultz was located in North Carolina. He returned and gave himself up upon his mother's appeal.

Mabel Taliaferro Weds in Daisy Field

Mabel Taliaferro, one of America's most famous actresses, and divorced wife of Frederick Thompson, the theatrical producer, is again a bride, this time the wife of Tom Carigan, leading man at the St. Louis Suburban, where she is playing.

The marriage took place, it became known only today, over a month ago, and to hold an actual record of the marriage, as well as to aid in keeping the affair a secret, the ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace, in an immense hall of dances, which sloped down toward a river bank, not far outside of the town of La Verne.

Wilson Defies Rain; Plays Golf 2 Hours

HANOVER, N. H., July 10.—In spite of the thunder storm that soaked the links here early today, President Wilson's motor car shot up the road from White River Junction about 9 o'clock, and Mr. Wilson and Dr. Cary Draxson spent two hours on the links.

He returned to Cornish for lunch and planned an afternoon of reading, with a motor ride at dusk.

Divorced Wife of Harvard Man Weds

Mrs. F. V. Alexandre, Lawyer's Bride in New York.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Mrs. Sydnora Russell Alexandre, who, six years ago, divorced three years ago from Francis V. Alexandre, former wealthy business and member of many clubs, has just been married to Edward N. Danforth, a lawyer, with offices in the New York Life Building. The ceremony was performed by Alexander Smith in New York.

Mrs. Alexandre's divorce followed the settling of her husband's estate, which was worth $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 and went into bankruptcy in 1911.

Shortly after her graduation from Harvard, in 1905, it was announced he had married Sydnora Russell, a Baltimore belle, thirteen months before. His father, a wealthy man, left him his fortune. After Mrs. Alexandre obtained a divorce, in 1908, she married Mr. Danforth in Jersey City. She was the widow of an army officer.

Prince Sells Queen's Letters, Raises $50

Mary's Son Desperate When $250
Weekly Money Isn't Doubled.

LONDON, July 10.—Prince Henry, the third son of King George, who is at preparatory school at Broadstairs, is allowed $250 a week pocket money. Recently he asked his parents to double the allowance, which was promptly refused by his mother.

A few days ago it came to Queen Mary's knowledge that the young prince had raised $250 by selling letters from her and other members of the royal family to a schoolmaster named Roberts, who is related to Lord Bute. The Queen wrote Head Master Roberts to return all the letters, from Roberts and refund the $250.

Prince Henry was warned if he raised money this way again he would be ordered to leave home.

Count Hayashi of Japan Is Dead

TOKYO, Japan, July 10.—Count Tadashi Hayashi, one of the leading statesmen of Japan, died today at the age of sixty-three, after a surgical operation rendered necessary by injuries he had sustained in a Japanese accident.

He was in 1900 and 1907 Minister of Foreign Affairs and in the last Saito cabinet he was Minister of Commerce.

"How much costs the cheapest room?" he suddenly asked.

"One dollar," replied the clerk.

"I got only a half," said Lapidow.

"We haven't got any half-rooms," said the clerk sarcastically.

It occurred to Lapidow to pawn something.

who was studying aviation at the Moraine School at Villacoublay, France?

The young Englishman posed as the girl's "chaperone."

WHO HIRED HIM to look after the girl?

Was this young Englishman known in Boston or to any Bostonian?

Where did this "chaperone" take Miss McNeill?

Further facts regarding Miss McNeill's life in Boston and Cambridge have been furnished by AMERICAN reporters.

Further Light on Case.

Agnes Firth McNeill moved into the Lamson apartments, suite 2, No. 355 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, Aug. 16, 1911. She later moved into Suite No. 2, and left the place May 15, 1912, and went to the Hotel Oxford, where she stayed with a Miss Roberts, another actress. She also is said to have stayed at the Lenox with Miss Roberts between May 15 and 20.

Miss McNeill had a number of agents as servants. A Newbury street doctor who was Miss McNeill's physician is said to have been the one who requested her from a private sanatorium in March, 1912. She was taken to the Desney home in April, 1912, having seemed to have been in poor health for some time previous.

Miss McNeill's married sister lives at 7110 N. B. another sister teaches school in Los Angeles, and her brother, Robert McNeill, lives at Loomis.

Parted from Girl April 10.

The Boston business man separated from Miss McNeill on the night of April 10, 1912. He gave as his reason the fact that his family demanded that he quit acting from her. She became hysterical, and the next morning told a number of women friends that she had been cast off as the demand of members of the family of her father.

The real reason for breaking with the girl was the threatened loss of the $20,000 a year position. When (through her) she was on the night of April 10, he gave her the bill as the real reason and not any lack of affection.

He further said, between who, that she didn't care to be made a wife, but only to have him continue to love her.

"Now that I am broken in health, and have lost my beauty," she is quoted as saying, "the cause me off at the behest of his relatives. He doesn't want to get rid of me. No. He loves me in spite of this. But that can't be. He's broken in health. He's so cruel. They threaten him with the loss of his position. He says that he would be unable to provide properly for me, that we should starve if he left them. He had to go, and he had to leave me."

Relations Not Kept Secret.

The $20,000-a-year business man made no secret of his relations with Miss McNeill. He was an almost daily visitor at her home, and was personally known by his own name to a large number of those living at the Lamson. The newly-strengthened couple were known to a number of common acquaintances, who commented on the automobile, which was driven in the vicinity of the family.

She took a trip to California, lasting some six weeks, last Fall, and always was supplied with sufficient money to maintain her position. Her admirer, it is commonly reported, gave her an allowance of $1,000 a year. But she seemed more, constantly talked of meeting death in an aeroplane toward the last, and seemed to have acquired a violent temper.

"A Little Lost Sister," submerged in the midst of city life shortly after coming here from New Hampshire to seek her fortune, she appears to have been happy so long as her wealthy admirer was permitted to continue with her. Some say that she was told by such

REPRESENTATIVE ROBERT ROBINSON OF BOSTON

This is a Democratic Representative who places the interests of the New Haven Railroad above the interests of his State and above his party platform.

He voted for the bill to give the New Haven monopoly control of more than half the street railways of his State. He voted to pass the bill over the veto of the Democratic Governor, based on party pledges and on the good of the Commonwealth. He voted for the bill in spite of the warnings of the Railroad Commission, the Tax Commissioner, the Chamber of Commerce, the Public Franchise League and the leading newspapers throughout the Commonwealth. WHY?

Do you feel that this Democratic Representative represents you? If not, send us your name and address. It will not be published, but we shall keep in touch with you until the next primaries and elections.

"But it wasn't necessary for me to kill myself," she told a woman friend, shortly before leaving the Lamson apartments. "I am sure to meet death in an aeroplane accident, sometime, somewhere. There it will be all over. I will not have that risk to answer for an aeroplane or poison. The kindly fate will bring my misery to an end and that ending it is a suicide's grave."

SEIZE HUB AUTO LOAD OF LIQUOR IN MAINE RACE

LEWISTON, Me., July 10.—After a sensational race in his auto early today Sheriff Stevens captured a Boston auto truck in the town of Wain loaded with liquor and bound for Augusta. He arrested the man in charge, who gave his name as Frank H. Downey of Roxbury and Frank J. Glasse of Boston. The truck, with the whiskey packed in sugar barrels and covered over with canvas to look like a load of furniture, would have reached its destination had not the weight of the truck caused a small bridge over Sabattus stream to

BOSTON AMERICAN PRIZES FOR VACATION PHOTOS

The Boston AMERICAN is planning to offer prizes to amateur photographers for pictures taken at the beach, on the mountains or on the lakes.

The contest will begin July 13 and will close September 1. Full details will be announced later.

No wide experience with the camera is necessary to take part in this competition. The vacation resorts offer many interesting studies for the camera lens, and an amateur's snap at some subject out of the ordinary, because of its unusual beauty or peculiar interest, will stand as much chance in the contest as the studied effort of an experienced operator.

Get in line, you camera fiends, and see what you can do!

One way. Some one discovered the photo was loaded with liquor and tobacco and was shown to Sheriff Stevens. The truck contained seventy barrels, each holding forty gallons of whiskey, making a total of 2800 gallons.

COL. SCANNELL ELOQUENT IN DISTRICT COURT

Colonel Roger Scannell, whose silk title is almost as famous as that of Mayor Hurley, Roger who fought so nobly for the Kerry goat, entertained an attentive audience in the District Court today. The colonel, in striped trousers, cutaway and pig hat, defended one of his tenants, Deane McCarthy, of No. 41 Gull street, Roxbury, who was charged to Rugby Park, Mattapan.

Terrence Patrick J. Williams told how he had up McCarthy last Sunday while McCarthy was hauling a load of Colonel Scannell's brand of temperance drinks to Rugby Park, Mattapan.

Lambasted Police Witnesses. Colonel Scannell was eloquent. His argument bristled with legal technicalities. He lambasted the police witnesses. In spite of the novel defense that he didn't pay McCarthy a penny for the work Sunday and that the truck was not his, McCarthy was fined $5 and appealed. Colonel Scannell was so eager that Judge Merrick permitted him to tell how he threw the grove over side at all times to all Irish and charitable organizations.

The police questioning showed that in return, he sold his toiles to the policemen.

Man Who Hit Him No Friend.

"And you mean to say you were going to present the Cochran Football Association with twenty down bottles of toilet?" asked Terrence Williams. "To that, sir," replied the colonel, "my reply is that I shall give any whatever I please and it's none of your business, either."

"So they were all your friends?" "That they were."

The colonel nearly exploded when he answered that "rowdies creep in."

Mexican Rebels Defeated in Battle

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—The most important Federal victory won in the north since the rebellion broke out against President Huerta was reported from Monterrey today by General Ruben Navarro, commander-in-chief of the government troops in northeastern Mexico. Four thousand rebels, under General Carranza, were defeated south of Monterrey by General Navarro's column. Three of the insurgents who were not killed, wounded or captured were put to flight. The rebel losses were heavy.

"Pilate's Daughter" for the Theatres

"Pilate's Daughter," the dramatic play which for several seasons has been so successfully presented in the theatre connected with the Mission Church, Roxbury, will be produced on regular stages throughout the country next season. Credits to that effect were signed today by the author, Rev. Francis L. Kennel of the Order of Redemptorists and George H. Brennan, a New York theatrical manager.

THE BRAND. In this story we are face to face with primitive human nature, strong passions, weaknesses that bring sorrow and despair, tenderness of heart, conquering influence of childhood. It is rough material, but with it the author presents an unforgettable picture of life in the Far North—a life of which he himself has been a part, and which he has reproduced with an interest that, in our judgment, has never been matched. CASSIDY TELLS OF CHARGES MADE AGAINST STATE HEALTH BOARD

When the AMERICAN was trying to pass a bill in the last Legislature for a reorganization of the State Board of Health, Dr. James H.
Blagden of Framingham and other representatives claimed the board was the premier board of the country.

Dr. Blagden, a reactionary, is chairman of the recess committee now investigating the treatment of tuberculosis. He is the representative of the State Board in the committee. Mr. Cassidy tells you today some of the things Dr. Blagden heard Edward F. Mcweeney, the tuberculosis expert, charge against the system of the board.

By HARRY P. CASSIDY.

Edward F. Mcweeney, the expert on tuberculosis and chairman of the committee of the Boston Sanatorium Hospital, made a scathing arrangement of the State Board of Health before the special committee of the House which is investigating tuberculosis.

Mr. Mcweeney condemned the "system" of the board, its inefficiency, its lack of efficiency, its lack of efficiency, which looked out upon the world surrounding the great Plague.

A feature of the hearing was the clash between Mr. Mcweeney and Dr. Edward H. Blagden, the chairman of the committee of the House and chairman of the State Board.

Mr. Blagden declared that laws can be enforced only when backed by force, and that the State Board of Health is not a law-enforcing body.
The entire philosophy of the State Board of Health, he said, is based upon the idea of a small and weak body of men, doing nothing in authority, and when they get the public call do it passed by the Legislature.

Mr. Mcweeney said before the committee to explain it, on the matters of the State Board of Health, that he was in the "recess" of tuberculosis. He did nothing in authority, and when they get the public call do it
passed by the Legislature.

Some Direct Charges.
"The office expenses of the State Board of Health," he said, are greater than the entire cost of all State Institutions twenty-five years ago.

In health matters the board seems to care more for the number of its office, it can create rather than the progress it can make in tuberculosis.

Last year Mcweeney spent 41 per cent of the entire appropriation of the State for its dependents and prisoners and yet the million spent have not resulted in the discharge of one new case. Only regulatory help has been given.
Massachusetts has been dropping behind for years in its treatment of tuberculosis. Its work has resulted only in multiplying the lives of tuberculous patients and increasing the danger of infection to the community.

"The poor are paying for the State's neglect. Every workman in the State works two weeks a year to pay the cost of the cost of tuberculosis.
He works two more weeks to help pay the cost of infection and crime.
And in almost every instance you can find the cost of pauperism and crime in your health.

Scores Social Workers.

Mr. Mcweeney scored the social workers for their unsound work on tuberculosis. He said: "The only real question we have met with in our work is from the social service workers.

"The system of the State Board of Health puts a premium on cases and does not aid tuberculosis cases.
The State has time and time again shown a disposition to aid the worst in its work. The board has refused to aid."

"For instance, the law says local committees shall build up places for the care of advanced cases of tuberculosis. Father to do so is punishable by a fine.

"When you see a responsible officer of the State Board of Health come out and say that the law won't be enforced, you have a right to assume that he represents the worst sort of lawlessness.

"The first result of the present enforcement of the law will mean an increase in the death rate because you will be getting honest reports from physicians."

COMMITTEE DEMANDS
REASONS FOR STATE
BOARD'S LAXITY

Attorney-General Swift has been asked by the special committee of the House of Representatives on tuberculosis to appear before it next Tuesday and explain why the present law requiring cities and towns to establish tuberculosis hospitals has not been enforced, and whether the law requires the State Board of Health to institute prosecutions.

The committee has also voted to request the State Board of Health to give its reasons for not enforcing the law.

Frederic J. Walker, chief of the bureau of animal industry, has informed the committee that he holds himself in readiness at any time to explain the work which the State is doing through his department to prevent the spread of tuberculosis among cattle.

State House Owing.

The State House Association will host their regular mid-summer outing at the
